

VICTORIAN INSTITUTE OF FORENSIC MEDICINE

Forensic Pathology Registrar Positions 2020 12 Month Terms Available

The VIFM is the pre-eminent forensic medical institution in Australia. We provide forensic medical services both within Australia and overseas, and are leaders in disaster victim identification management and the application of post-mortem radiological imaging techniques.

Forensic pathology is at the interface of medicine and the law and you will join the Institute's forensic pathology team in providing independent investigations into the causes and mechanisms of sudden, unexpected and suspicious deaths.

Forensic pathology also plays an important preventative role in public health and safety particularly in the provision of health-related information to families and the wider community.

You will have an interest in the engagement of medicine with the justice system and will be trained and supported in conducting medico-legal investigations for the State Coroner and the Police, as well as proving expert opinion and testimony concerning your investigations.

The positions are for 12 months fixed term commencing February 2020.

- Post part 1 candidates preferred
- The successful applicant will be required to undergo a Victoria Police criminal record check
- A current driver's licence is essential
- Trainees currently on the Victorian Anatomical Pathology training program will also need to apply for a transfer through this program.
- Short-listed candidates will also be required to undergo a separate interview to the training program given the specific nature of the job.
- For further information please contact Dr Greg Young, Forensic Pathologist Email: greg.young@vifm.org

CLOSING DATE: 5th August 2019

Forward your expression of interest together with your curriculum vitae nominating two referees to:

Manager Human Resources,
Victorian Institute of Forensic Medicine,
65 Kavanagh Street, Southbank 3006

Ph: (03) 9684 4444

Email: jobs@vifm.org

www.vifm.org